

PH512: CHRISTIANITY AND WESTERN THOUGHT (4 Units: 160 hours). Samuel Powell.

DESCRIPTION: An introduction to philosophical thinking, exploring the historical relationship between Christianity and Western thought. The course is based on a selective study of thinkers and movements from Plato to the present day.

LEARNING OUTCOMES: Students who successfully complete the course will have demonstrated that they have: (1) increased their knowledge of the Western philosophical tradition and its relevance to Christian theology; (2) sharpened their critical thinking skills; (3) developed their writing skills; (4) enhanced their abilities to understand, analyze and critique intellectual theories and issues; and deepened their appreciation for thinkers whose views differ from their own; and (5) learned how to articulate the relationship between theories and practices for sympathetic engagement with culture(s), especially postmodern culture.

COURSE FORMAT: Guided discussion of the assigned readings, preceded by introductory lectures to provide orientation. The class will meet over three weekends for a total of 27 hours of classroom instruction for lecture and discussion. There will also be 13 hours of directed learning activities, for a total of 40 instructional hours.

REQUIRED READING: 1304 total pages of required reading.

- Allen, Diogenes and Eric O. Springsted. Philosophy for Understanding Theology. 2d edition. Westminster John Knox Press, 2007. ISBN: 978-0664231804, Pub. Price $30.00 [336 pp.].
- Allen, Diogenes and Eric O. Springsted. Primary Readings in Philosophy for Understanding Theology. Westminster John Knox Press, 1997. ISBN: 978-0664252083, Pub. Price $30.00 [320 pp.].
- Stone, Alison. An Introduction to Feminist Philosophy. Polity, 2007. ISBN: 978-0745638836, Pub. Price $26.95 [248 pp.].
- Penner, Myron B., ed. Christianity and the Postmodern Turn: Six Views. Brazos Press, 2005. ISBN: 978-1587431081, Pub. Price $23.95 [240 pp.].
- Smith, James K.A. Who's Afraid of Postmodernism?: Taking Derrida, Lyotard, and Foucault to Church, 2d ed. Baker Academic, 2006. ISBN: 978-0801029189, Pub. Price $14.45 [160 pp.].

ASSIGNMENTS AND ASSESSMENT:

1. 1304 pages of reading. [65 hours].
2. Final paper (30%). This will be a 3000 word essay in which, on the basis of your reading of Christianity and the Postmodern Turn and Who's Afraid of Postmodernism?, you 1) describe your understanding of postmodern culture and 2) discuss the challenges and opportunities that postmodern culture presents to Christian life and faith. [This assignment relates to learning outcome #2-5]. [30 hours].
3. Two essays and presentation on the assigned reading (30%). [This assignment relates to learning outcomes 1, 2 & 4]. [20 hours].
Essay #1: Referring to the assigned readings in Primary Readings in Philosophy for Understanding Theology, write a 1,250 word summary and analysis of the excerpt from either Plato or Aristotle. Be prepared to discuss your essay in class.
Essay #2: Referring to the assigned readings in Primary Readings in Philosophy for Understanding Theology, write a 1,250 word summary and analysis of the excerpt from either Descartes or Hume. Be prepared to discuss your essay in class.
4. Participation in Moodle discussion (20%). Prior to the second and third weekends I will create discussions about the assigned reading on Moodle. The assignment is to satisfactorily participate in these discussions. [This assignment relates to learning outcome #1]. [Directed Learning Activities - 13 hours].

5. 4. Final exam (20%). Write a 1,000 word critical analysis of An Introduction to Feminist Philosophy. [5 hours].

PREREQUISITES: None.

RELATIONSHIP TO CURRICULUM: Meets M.Div. core requirement in Philosophical Theology (PHIL).

FINAL EXAMINATION: Yes, a take-home essay exam.